During my months working at Tommy Hilfiger, I developed a sense for the fashion industry and embraced the store's trends very easily. As a result of my dedication, I advanced to the role of Visual Merchandiser. In this position, I gained qualities such as creativity development and confidence in my own decisions, and most importantly, I learned to look at things from the outside perspective and "think outside the box."

adidas in Timișoara, România

lucrator comercial, sales assistant

August 2020 - August 2021 | 1 an

Throughout my time at Adidas, I have acquired skills such as data processing in the Microsoft Office suite, receiving and preparing merchandise, as well as closing the workday by preparing the necessary money and documents. Among the many responsibilities, I have also gained excellent organization skills in the warehouse and maintaining it at optimal parameters to carry out our activities. As with any other job, cleanliness and arranging merchandise on the sales floor have become my strong points. I have gained a lot of new knowledge about products and how to optimize my time to fulfill my work responsibilities every day. The most significant skill I have acquired is the ability to relate to and resolve conflicts with customers.
